It's Banquet time again! Everyone, dig deep to find your favorite recipes, items for our silent auction, and white elephants extraordinaire.   Our holiday banquet will be held on January 16, 2010 at the Fleet Reserve building. Doors will open at 5:00 pm (thanks, Ken) and dinner will begin around 6:00 pm. The club will purchase a ham. Wendy stated that she will cook a turkey. Everyone else is asked to bring side dishes and desserts–please, more side dishes than desserts. There will also be a silent auction–bring things that are new/used that you think someone would pay a couple of bucks for or a lot of bucks for. There will be a white elephant gift exchange–please bring a wrapped gift to participate in the exchange (think "regift"–and remember, white elephants are usually used items that are of some value; it's just that you don't need the item anymore. So, put your western duds on and join us at the January banquet.

Membership reminder and LifeFlight renewal: The Holidays are about over, and it's time to pay some bills. If you are planning to join Life Flight, please send your application soon. The Group Plan we had the past few years was replaced with a Family Plan that costs $35 per family. So far I only have a handful of applications, and we need 25 families to establish our own group. If we don't get enough applications in the next week or two, I will have to look into submitting our applications to the State Group. Details and an application are attached.

Please make out the check to Life Flight Network and mail it to:
